What is the commitment?

This engagement commitment sets out how we can work together to make decisions that affect the safety of your building. This could be about works being carried out or how we manage your building for example. Your Building Safety Manager Andre Sandiford has put this together based on responses from surveys, drop ins and door knocking over recent weeks. If responses were low, we might use responses from other similar buildings to help us.

Methodology

As your Building Safety Manager, my goal is to work with you to keep your building safe.

On 23 December 2024, I inspected your block and invited residents to an onsite drop-in session. A few minor issues were identified and promptly resolved by the Estate Management Team.

In January 2025, I returned to your building to carry out a door-knocking and resident survey exercise.

This helped us understand your information needs, any vulnerabilities, and your awareness of building safety. During this visit, I also confirmed that your building is registered with the Building Safety Regulator (BSR) and shared the registration number and their contact details.

We also provided information about your building's fire strategy, the importance of fire doors, and the responsibilities you and NHG share in maintaining safety.

Survey results will be addressed individually, and common questions will be shared via email or through your Property Manager.

This commitment was made in December 2024 and will be reviewed in December 2026, or sooner if needed.

How we will share this with you

To cater for the diverse needs of our residents, we can communicate in a broad range of ways. We aim to provide this information in different formats that can be understood by all residents including those that have a physical or visual impairment, have other disabilities or who speak another language:

- Face to face appointments
- At pop up sessions
- By introductory & animation videos
- Local newsletters
- Via email
- Via postal or hand delivered letter
- Via text
- Fire Action Notices
- At sign up
- New resident home visit
- On our website
- On local notice boards
- At local surgeries
- During building inspections

BUILDING SAFETY

Tesla Court

Tesla Court, 1-20 & 101-104, Warple Way, London, W3 7DQ

Types of information you would like to see

- Action to take in the event of fire or structural emergency
- General information to understand legislation impacting your home including the Building Safety Act and the Fire Safety England Regs
- Resident and landlord responsibilities
- Changes in fire strategy
- Remediation works
- Other major works
- Costs

What decisions you would like to be involved in

- We encourage residents to get involved in making decisions relating to the safety of their buildings
- We encourage residents to create resident associations to have a voice in the management of their buildings. If you would like further information on setting up a Resident's Association, please contact your BSM

How you can influence decisions

- Proactively seeking out resident feedback and using that information to tailor our building safety approach
- Surgeries in person and online
- Building & Estate walkabouts with Housing Officer
- Inclusion at Residents Association meetings
- Get involved through your Residents Association. If your building does not have RA and you would like to start one, please contact your housing officer for support and guidance in setting one up

How we'll gather and use your opinions

- We'll keep a record on our Workwise system from our interactions as listed above
- We'll gather your thoughts in line with our usual GDPR policies, just like when you contact us about anything else.

How we'll measure and review this commitment

- Measure the number of cases raised on Workwise reviewing building safety content
- Writing to you annually to let you know what engagement and influence that has had
